

Dear Hiring Team,

My name is Alessandro Gentile, I am a Junior Growth Marketer from Monza. I am applying because I believe a junior's value is measured by thought quality and drive to deliver, not just by years of experience.

I built my path by working on multiple marketing levers in completely different contexts: SEO analysis and web performance in a structured digital agency (Naxa), full brand and campaign management for a Milanese luxury business (Anularis), and social media management at an international cultural center in Sweden (Fridhem Center). In each context, I worked autonomously, adapting quickly to diverse needs and environments, delivering concrete, measurable results.

Alongside my professional career, I am developing Wolly, an AI personal finance app. This is not a side project: it is how I operate. Before any code was written, I led structured desk research on the Italian fintech market, designed user research with a segmented strategic form, and defined the product from the insights gathered. I am documenting every step publicly on my portfolio because I believe the best way to prove how you think is to show it, not just tell it.

Artificial intelligence is an integral part of my workflow. Not as a trend to follow, but as a concrete tool to accelerate analysis, optimize processes, and make better decisions. It is a skill I built out of necessity and apply daily, both in agency work and personal projects.

What I look for is an environment where marketing is done at 360°: where I can contribute to multiple levers at once, have a big-picture view, and see the direct impact of my work on company results. I am proactive by nature: I do not wait for a task to be assigned, I look for the problem to solve and propose the solution.

I look forward to the opportunity of an interview.

Alessandro Gentile.
